

Working Health Services in Fife

For the self employed / employees of a small business under 250 employees

What are “amended duties”? What are “workplace adaptations”?

GPs - Do you have patients whose work duties aggravate their health condition?

An Occupational Therapist from Working Health Services can conduct a workplace assessment.

A report is produced containing recommendations to the employer for suitable workplace modifications, and with advice to the patient on healthy working habits.

Advise your patient to self refer to Working Health Services. We are a free and confidential service. WHS Case Managers can refer patients to counselling, occupational therapy and physiotherapy.
